In this Peanuts comic strip, we see that Lucy cares about trees. The Peanuts gang respects trees!

Earth Day is April 22. Celebrate by writing a poem about trees on these lines. (The lines don’t have to rhyme.)

Trees are important!

They give us __________________________________________________________.

They give us __________________________________________________________.

They give us __________________________________________________________.

We should care for trees because they care for us!

Families: Celebrate Earth Day by asking family members to name what kind of tree they would be, if they could be a tree. Consider planting a tree as a family that you could care for, or find a local organization to which you can donate a tree.
